

I had chance to work as an intern in abroad with Erasmus Program. Because the country that I worked was Italy, I can tell that I have gained so much experiences in terms of design understanding and work discipline. First of all, I have worked in an international company. So, there was an intercultural environment not only the Italian culture but also the cultures of other trainees from Asia and Europe. This situation made teamwork much more educational and enjoyable for all of us. There were a lot of things that put me under pressure and forced me to learn new things in a very short time through my experience. But all these things made my experience unique and made it possible to see the business life in real sense. If I did not do my internship abroad, I would never have had the experience that I had gained. For this reason, I suggest you to seize the opportunity of internship abroad.
